Air traffic controllers learn of the hijacking when they overhear the terrorists talking to the passengers.

Air Traffic Controller Pete Zalewski: Is that American 11 trying to call?

Mohammed Atta: ...body. We have some planes. Just stay quiet and you'll be okay. We are returning to the airport.

Air Traffic Controller Pete Zalewski: [Unintelligible] Who's trying to call me here? [Beat.] American 11, are you trying to call?

Mohammed Atta: Nobody move. Everything will be okay. If you try to make any moves you endanger yourselves and the airplane. Just stay quiet.

Heroic flight attendant Betty Ann Ong called someone at American Airlines for help. In the following audio, number 1 and number 5 refer to her fellow flight attendants.

BETTY ONG: Hi, you're going to have to speak up, I can't hear you.

MALE VOICE: Sure. What is your name?

BETTY ONG: Okay, my name is Betty Ong. I'm number 3 on Flight 11.

MALE VOICE: Okay.

BETTY ONG: And the cockpit is not answering their phone, and there's somebody stabbed in business class, and there's - we can't breathe in business class. Somebody's got mace or something.

MALE VOICE: Can you describe the person that you said - someone is what in business class?

BETTY ONG: I'm sitting in the back. Somebody's coming back from business. If you can hold on for one second, they're coming back.

BETTY ONG: Okay. Our number 1 got stabbed. Our purser is stabbed. Nobody knows who stabbed who, and we can't even get up to business class right now 'cause nobody can breathe. Our number 1 is stabbed right now. And who else is?

MALE VOICE: Okay, and do we -

BETTY ONG: and our number 5 - our first class passengers are - galley flight attendant and our purser has been stabbed. And we can't get into the cockpit, the door won't open. Hello?

Soon after the hijacking, ground control out of Indianapolis ('Indy') lose contact with the flight and suspect something is wrong. The following audio is an excerpt of that effort.

Note the number of times ground control tries to get in touch with the aircraft. They then reach out to someone else to try.

Many passengers were able to call their families and say goodbye, and said that they were going to break into the cockpit.

Passenger Honor Elizabeth Wainio phoned her stepmother and told her that the plane had been hijacked. The call lasted 4 minutes, 29 seconds. According to her stepmother, Elizabeth expressed concern for her family, saying,

"This is going to be harder on you, and I want you to be okay." At the end of the call, Elizabeth said, "They're getting ready to break into the cockpit. I have to go. I love you. Good-bye.", and she hung up. (FBI, Trial Evidence, family statement)

All together, 2,996 people in the buildings and planes were killed by 19 hijackers. Most were killed in the collapse of the North and South Towers (The Twin Towers) of the World Trade Center. Many of these were first responders who rushed in before the towers collapsed to try and save people. We recall these events to remember the importance of our freedoms and liberties and why they matter.
